Protests Lodged In Church's Proposal To Close Burnell St.

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The County Planning Depatment staff has been directed to undertake further study of the closing of Burnell ave. between Main and Olive in Lemon Grove.

The First Baptist Church is seeking to have the street closed so that it can build a church on what is now the street. The closing has been recommended by the planning commission but has never been acted upon by the Board of Supervisors because the church has not as yet met the conditions imposed by the commission for the street closing.

The closing would not be sent to the board until those conditions were met.

The commission recommended closing in 1963 but did not hold a formal hearing on the matter.

Friday several persons appeared at the commission meeting to protest the move. The only action was to close the hearing and order the further study.

L. B. Maxwell, 2840 Olive, said that Burnell should not be closed because Olive is narrow and often clogged with traffic and parked cars.

Paul Hockenbury, 2865 Cypress, said that Burnell has been used a access because of the inadequacy of Olive.

Commissioner Gilbert Ray, after disqualifying himself to vote said that Burnell has been a dedicated street for 40 years. He said that the street is used to gain access to the business distict.

Joe Damburger, 2720 Olive presented the commission with a letter signed by 65 adjacent property owners objecting to closing the street.

The church was before the commission on its request for a special use permit to enabel it to build the new church. The site is only 1.40 acres as against the generally applied county standard of two acres.

The matter will probably be decided by the commission at the meeting of March 26 although no testimony will be taken from the floor. Either side will then have the right of appeal to the board.

For these positions applications will be accepted until further notice. All persons interested in these positions will be required to pass a written test.

Kennels OK'd For La Presa

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — D. D. Campbell Friday was granted a reduction in side yard for La Presa property that will allow him to put a dog kennel at 8757 Jamacha rd. despite a staff recommendation against the variance.

Campbell told the County Planning Commission that he has the kennel building moved in and has a permit but that the kennel is not in operation as yet.

The staff said that although the property was zoned C-2, many homes exist to the east and west of the property.

Commissioner Gilbert Ray made the motion to grant. He said that the closest house has been vacant for so long that the windows are all broken out. He said, "Residences are going down hill in this section."

Landlords' Report To Assessor Due

Forms have been mailed to real estate owners having rental property in which tenants own a portion or all of the furnishings. County assessor John McQuilken warns: "Failure to receive a declaration form does not relieve any person from the legal requirement to file an annual statement with the assessor."

California law requires property owners to provide the assessor with an annual statement of their holdings as of the first Monday in March.

Any landlord who has not received the 1965 Owner's Report of Tenants form should immediately contact the office of County Assessor, 103 County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway, San Diego; 325 South Melrose Drive, Vista; 248 West Main, El Cajon.

PETTY CRIME HITS AUTOS, LAUNDROMATS

Petty crime went rather in pairs this week—seemingly unrelated as to the miscreants but similar in the nature of the acts—as two car windows were reported broken, a couple of dwellings were reported rifled and two coin changers in laundromats got looted.

TEACHER Bobby D. Holloway, 30, 2126 Glencoe dr., Lemon Grove, reported a broken window on his '58 Volkswagon parked near his residence and Frank R. Freeman's '62 Monza received similar treatment while he was on a visit at his son's home at 8312 Palm st., Lemon Grove. Both victims suspect grudges were involved in the misdemeanors.

RUB-A-DUB LAUNDRY, 9027 Campo rd., was reported by owner Frank Applegate to have had $25 removed from a coin changer. YOYAS LAUNDERETTE, 407 Sweetwater, Spring Valley, was reported by Charles R. Benson of Chula Vista to have been shortchanged 12 dimes. No damage was reported in either case.

TRAILER RESIDENT MRS CAROLINE RAUWOLF said that someone stole jewelry and money valued at $30 from her at Space 185, 10707 Jamacha blvd., Spring Valley, while she was next door visiting her daughter.

TWO SMALL BANKS were reported missing from a dresser top at the residence of Lona F. Fancher of 7522 Cuyamaca, Lemon Grove, and a small quantity of steak was gone. More valuable jewelry was not touched, officers were told. Two youths in their early teens were reported seen in Mrs. Fancher's yard at the approximate time of the thefts by an elderly neighbor with poor eyesight. She could not positively identify the boys.

A PUBLIC-SPIRITED thief possibly concerned with doing his duty as an upright citizen by exercising his voting privileges, at least while he still can, took three letters, a postal card and a mailed ballot sample from the mailbox of Donald R. and Maralyn Vinson of 618 Broadview, Spring Valley.

The DIMMER VIEW

Stronger College System Due

The resignation of University of California President Clark Kerr appears to be serving a useful purpose even though he did rescind his decision later.

His "temporary" resignation, and that of Acting Chancellor Martin Meyerson, brings into sharper focus some of the issues that should have been faced long ago at Berkeley.

The question regarding faculty resignations as a direct result of students who conduct themelves as hoodlums is another issue, and is not being considered in this study.

One of the really important issues on which no newspaper has ever published a study, so far as we know, asks, "are there communist professors at Berkeley?"

The "free-speech" rebellion at Berkeley, and later the filthy word movement, triggered circumstances that left President Kerr little choice but to "resign." It is significant that he resigned to the press almost a week before he resigned to board of regents. Regents convinced Dr. Kerr that he ought to reconsider.

His "resignation" brought into the open a charge by State Sen Hugh Burns that communism in the Berkeley faculty was not unknown. These charges were not previously made probably for a number of reasons. Some (1. That any charge would be considered an attack on UC's college system; (2. That any charge would be considered an attack on all educators regarding infiltration of communism into their ranks; (3. such charges would question the ability of students to measure up to mature, college level reasoning, and (4. rights and privileges of the free-speech principle would be lessened by such charges of the free speech principle.

A large segment of lay people that we have contact with, who are sincerely interested in education, simply can't decide whether some of the youthful leadership at Berkeley is communist inspired. Neither do we, as an editorial writer, know.

Following President Kerr's "resignation" it was announced

Sutherland Urges Bill With Teeth To Curtail Smut

The sale of pornographic matter is a satanic attack on our children, said San Diego businessman Paul Sutherland. He spoke Friday at noon at a meeting of the Lemon Grove Men's Club.

He said that those who print the obscene material are interested in only one thing—money. They are perverting this generation," Southerland said.

He urged that the public write to the Criminal Procedures Committee of the Assembly in Sacramento and ask for a strong bill against salacious literature.

Sutherland also presented a film, "Perversion for Profit," which exposes the sale of pornographic materials.

Sutherland is chairman of the Bay Institutes of Evangalists and a member of the board of Youth For Christ.

Program Chairman Charles Buckles said that this week's speaker is Dep. Sheriff Kenneth L. Haney, who will demonstrate the operation of a portable lie-detector.

Illness Prompts Dorothy Harding Resignation

The resignation of Miss Dorothy L. Harding, director of personnel since 1953 in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School Dist. was accepted with regret by the board of education at its March 8 meeting. Miss Harding has been on sick leave since November 12, 1964.

Miss Harding came to the district in 1948 as director of education. Previously, she had held the position of director of elementary schools for nine years in Grand Island, Neb., and one year in a county school office in Mahoning, Ohio. She has also served as a teacher and principal in elementary schools in Lake Bluff near Chicago.

Glenn E. Murdock, superintendent of schools, said that Miss Harding developed a close relationship with teacher training institutions that influenced the La Mesa - Spring Valley School District to the best of their candidates.

He said, "All who have worked in the District have felt her genuine concern for their success, and respect her example of energetic dedication to the profession of teaching."

On the day of worship, sit shoulder to shoulder with your fellowmen to hear the Word of God. Be assured that your fellow-worshippers are bearing burdens and weights as large as yours.

"THE CROSS"

The cross could not be circumvented. Satan offered substitute plans to Jesus, but Jesus would not consider them. Christ had come forth from the Father on the mission of redeeming man and He would not be turned aside from that mission. He want to the cross and paid for the sins of all the human race.

BSA COUNCIL SPURS DRIVE FOR $150,000, 10,000 MEMBERSHIP

The 1965 sustaining membership of the Boy Scouts of America in San Diego County is encouraging, reports Julius J. Fink, council sustaining membership chairman.

Fink said the first returns amounted to 1,340 sustaining members for $24,008 toward a goal of 10,000 members and $150,000. This is $47,000 more than last year. Fink said the added need stems from increased prices, increased scouting and the fact that United Community Service fell short of their goal, resulting in $24,000 less for Scouting than was received last year.

Fink has urged all scouters who have received mail renewal invitations and any new scouter, to help the volunteer salesman by mailing in their sustaining membership check or money order to Boy Scouts of America, San Diego Council, 1207 Upas st., San Diego 92103, Cal.

Girl Scout Chatter

by Mary D. Giacinto

Girl Scout Troop 4 is sponsoring a rummage sale Saturday, March 20, from 9 in the morning until 5:30 p.m. Through the courtesy of Kenneth Calder the sale will be held at the old Floyd's Toytown building, 7293 Broadway, in Lemon Grove.

The sixteen girls, a few at a time, will be on hand to serve you during the sale. Right now, the girls are industriously collecting merchandise for the event. They would deeply appreciate any donation—clothes, appliances, toys, dishes or whatever is now excess or unusable to you. Mrs. Charlene Viereck will be glad, as the leader of troop 4, to pick up said items if you call her at 469-6640. Or, if you wish, you can drop it off at her home, 2306 Golden ave., in Lemon Grove.

We can help the girls pay for their camp-out in April and to buy needed material for their various activities. All we have to do is rid ourselves of our discards. Call Mrs. Viereck now. Then if you miss your items just a little, meet me at the rummage sale and restock. Remember that date again, Saturday, March 20, at 7923 Broadway. Got it?

Van Deerlin Asks Public For Opinions on Issues

WASHINGTON—Do we need stricter laws regulating the right to buy or own a gun?

Is it proper function of government to provide birth control information?

Should we continue America's crash program to put a man on the moon by 1970?

These and 10 additional questions are asked of every resident of the 37th Congressional district by Congressman Lionel Van Deerlin (D—San Diego) in his 1965 legislative questionnaire.

Mailed recently, the questionnaire is the second such poll by Van Deerlin. In 1963, Van Deerlin's first questionnaire as a freshman Congressman evoked a 23% response, one of the two highest reported by Congressmen who distribute such questionnaires. The printing is not done at government expense.

Results of the 1965 poll will be tabulated by volunteers in San Diego and made available in detail to all interested persons. Van Deerlin noted that professional help in phrasing the questions has insured that no questions are weighted or loaded.

Congressmen's questionnaires do more than seek out constituent opinion; they also reveal what issues the Congressman thinks are important. Here, in some cases slightly reworded and shortened, are the 10 remaining questions asked by Van Deerlin:

Do you favor or oppose Medicare? How do you feel about President Johnson's anti-poverty program? Do you favor or oppose more federal help for our schools? If federal money is used to assist public schools, should it also be made available under limited programs to children in private and parochial schools?

If you agree that Congress should cut excise taxes, in what order should they be ended or modified? How do you rate Robert McNamara as Secretary of Defense? Should the military draft (Selective Service) be ended now? Should the Federal Government help underwrite the cost of developing faster commercial transportation? Should the law permitting individual states to enact "right-to-work" laws remain or be repealed? How can Van Deerlin be of the greatest help to San Diegans?

A one-car accident on Highway 94 (Campo road) on March 13 sent a La Mesa man to the Grossmont Hospital via the Spring Valley ambulance. The California Highway Patrol reports that James R. Laccabue, 55, of 4195 Nabal dr., La Mesa, (Homelands,) was going east on the highway, and on a sharp turn lost control of his car and crashed into a telephone pole.

On March 11, the ambulance crew answered a call to the Vincent Silva home, 3546 Kenwood drive. Seven-year-old Glorian Ann Silva had a marble lodged in her throat, but by the time the ambulance arrived she had swallowed the marble. She was back in school this week.

Glen Reck, 74, of 9054 Koonce drive was taken to Sharp Hospital on March 15, due to an earlier stroke.

A pickup truck, with a camper backed into a fire hydrant on Troy street on March 12, snapping the hydrant in two, and flooding the area. California Highway Patrol reported the driver as Joseph C. Sceppe, 17, of 2135 Ildica ct. The Patrol said Sceppe was backing his truck into a driveway, and his vision became impaired. About three inches of water flooded the floor of Harold's Shoe Repair shop at 8905 Troy, and the fire department had to channel water to keep it from going in to two adjacent houses.

There were no fires during the week in the Spring Valley area.

There was .08 inches of rainfall during the week. The high temperature was 68 degrees on March 14; the low was 39 degrees on March 12 and 13.

Beatle Birds Buy Brisk Beat Better

"Do teenagers like a fast or a slow beat in rock 'n' roll," the fan club prexy was asked.

"Fast, very definitely," she replied.

This was Barbara Bradwell of 10813 Madrid way, Spring Valley, who should be knowledgeable in the way of youth's musical preferences.

In March, 1964, after watching the "Beatles" on tee vee, Barb said to herself, "Why not form a Beatle club?"

The first thing she did was to contact two other girls and with their help and the extreme popularity of the Beatles the local club began to "snowball." A name for the club? "Beatle Birds"won the approval of all.

Thereupon, Spring Valley was credited with another "first."

Barb had a wide aqcuaintanceship in northern San Diego County and soon boys and girls began applying for membership. The club now comprises mostly girls. There are no dues, just proof of your enthusiasm for the Beatles.

Barb Bradwell was the first and only president of Beatle Birds. Her vice-presidents have been Lu Peters of Calavo dr. and Ann Sandora of Brookside cir. Officers may serve as long as they wish as there are no elections.

The club publisnes a small newspaper called the Beatle Bird Blabber and it is sent to many areas of the nation. The papers, after being distributed locally, are sent to Portland, Ore., which has a membership of 3,000. From there the papers go to U. S. clubs and foreign clubs in Kenya, Africa; London and Liverpool, England; and Sweden.

Letters are exchanges from time to time between members of the many clubs and it has been reported that Barb Bradwell's mailbox many times is overflowing. Barb, herself, has shouldered most of the expenses of the organization. Other commitments make it impossible for her to keep up with the club business and it has been reported she wants to turn everything over to someone else.

On March 20 the club will be one year old and a celebration has been planned. The event is tentatively to be held on the parking lot of Balboa Bowl, with talent, disc jockeys and others in attendance.

SV Bulletin Celebrates Seventeenth Anniversary

March marks the 17th anniversary of the Spring Valley Bulletin. It was first published as a tabloidsize sheet back in 1948. Today, the Bulletin has a circulation of approximately 4,000 being mailed not only to local residents, but out-of-state as well. Homeland Publishing Co. publishes the Bulletin as well as the Lemon Grove Review.

The Spring Valley Bulletin carries all the happenings of the Spring Valley, Casa de Oro, La Presa and adjacent areas. It has a good rundown on seasonal activities, such as Little League, Pony and Colt League baseball, Scouting and other doings. It covers police and fire department news. It tells of engagements and weddings, along with pictures. Organizations play a big part in weekly newspapers, and the Bulletin has its share. Dean Charles Collins

Dean Collins Runs A Busy Typewriter

Grossmont College Dean of Instruction Charles C. Collins runs a busy typewriter.

He has an article in the current issue of the Personnel and Guidance Journal, another scheduled for the Junior College Journal, and will write or collaborate on chapters in two forthcoming books.

In "The Junior College Counsellor: A Critical View," Personnel and Guidance Journal, Collins suggests that too frequenty the junior college counsellor sees himself as a psychiatrist junior grade. The counsellor's role, according to the dean, is in vocational and educational advice, and for this he needs a broad training in value analysis.

"A Point of View on Grading Standards" is the title of the Collins article scheduled for the March issue of Junior College Journal. In it he discusses the merits and demerits of equating standards with grades.

Collins will write a chapter, "Crucial Issues in the Student Personnel Function in the Junior College," for a book, "Current Issues in the Junior College Movement," to be published this year by McGraw-Hill.

He also will collaborate with two other junior college educators on a chapter in a volume describing the results of a two-year study of junior college student personnel practises. Sponsored by the Carnegie Corporation, the study involved a national committee of experts on the junior college, including Collins.

The chapter which the Grossmont dean will help write will describe the optimal personnel program of a junior college.

Here is another column by veteran writer Pete Odens of Imperial Valley. An interesting historian, his columns, which we will publish from time to time, will concern history of Southern California.

SAN DIEGO — When news of the gold discovery in California came filtering through to the east by the summer of 1848, the first reaction was one of caution. "Show me!" was the general attitude. In California, both the United States Army as well at the Navy decided that a messenger should be dispatched to Washington, D.C. to take a sample of the newly found gold to the capitol which would dispel all doubts about the tremendous new era which undoubtedly lay ahead.

Stationed on the flagship "Ohio" off the coast of Southern California and Baja California was Lt. Edward Fitzgerald Beale, a midshipman who had distinguished himself in the Battle of San Pascual as a man of resourcefulness and daring. He was summoned by Commodore Thomas Ap Catesby Jones in the summer of 1848.

"Beale," the commodore said, "Colonel Mason at Monterey has sent a messenger to Washington with 3000 ounces of gold found at Sutter's Mill at Coloma. I feel that the Navy should be the bearer of such good tidings —we shouldn't be beaten by the Army, should we?"

Beale shook his head. He fully realized the rivalry between the two branches of the service. "Which route is the messenger taking?" he asked.

"He's going by ship, of course," the commodore said. "Lt. Loeser, a good man. Can you beat him?"

Beale considered the situation for a moment. "Only if I go by land — and the only chance is to go by way of Mexico," he said after a while. "It will be rough, but I can make it."

FOR GLORY OF NAVY

"I am counting on you," the commodore said. "to uphold the glory of the Navy." A short time later, Beale was on his way. He was equipped with dispatches to Washington from the commodore as well as from Consul Thomas O. Larkin at Monterey, but above all, he carried with him a generous amount of samples of the precious metal.

Crossing the Gulf of California from La Pax in Baja California, Beale arrived in Mazatlan on Aug. 1 where he chartered a small boat known in Mexico as a "goleta" which took him south along the coast for a stormy five days to San Blas. There, he briefly consulted with the Mexican governor who tried to dissuade him from the trip across the continent.

"The troops of Mariano Paredes have deserted," the governor said, "and they are now bandits roaming the country. They will kill you for sure."

Beale paid no attention to this warning. He spoke Spanish fluently and had a rather dark compexion, and hoping that he could pass for a Mexican which was safer than to be recognized immediately for a hated gringo, he donned Mexican clothes. Under his poncho he carried four revolvers and a Bowie knife. Thus, accompanied only by a guide, he set out on Aug. 12 on the one thousand mile ride on horseback across Mexico, mainly along wagon tracks and old Indian trails.

FOUGHT OFF ATTACKS

Beale had to fight three enemies — the rough territory, bandits and the weather. On two occasions he was attacked. The first attack came soon after he and his guide had sped across the tierra caliente on the coast and into the first of two mountain ranges which lay in their way. Using his revolvers to good advantage, the young lieutenant fought off his attackers. Again a few days later, bandits appeared but their horses were no match for those of Beale and his guide.

Traveling day and night, the two men reached Guadalajara, city of music, but there was no time for feasting. The rainy season had set in threatening to nullify Beale's efforts. Flashes of lightning rent the sky and trees and rocks had been washed down from the mountains and onto the road.

It took Beale eight days to negotiate the 724 miles between San Blas and Mexico City. There, he rested for three days in the home of Nathan Clifford, United States minister to Mexico. Then, he continued on the last 275 miles to Vera Cruz which took him another 48 hours. A sloop-of-war, the Germantown", took him across the Gulf of Mexico to Mobile, Alabama from where he travelled by stage and steamer to Washington, D.C. He arrived on Sept. 16, only 47 days after he had left La Paz, and found to his delight that the messenger sent by the Army had not yet arrived.

DOUBT EXISTED

Senator Thomas H. Benton, fatherr-in-law of Fremont, introduced Beale in Congress but although he produced the gold samples and even deposited one half of them for exhibition in the Patent Office, many still did not believe that this gold actually came from California.

Meanwhile, Lt. Loeser had an adventurous trip of his own which led him to New Orleans from where he telephoned his message to Washington, D.C. There the President was getting ready to address Congress. These were his momentous words:

"The accounts of the abundance of gold in that territory are of such extraordinary character as would scarcely command belief but for the authentic reports of officers in the public service who have visited the mineral districts and drew the facts which they detail from personal observation."

Now, the American public had heard and had been shown, and the gold rush began.

As for Beale, he was happy for more than one reason. He had upheld the glory of the United States Navy in being the first in Washington, D.C. with samples of California gold, and he was able to take one half of the gold samples he had brought with him to a jeweler. There he had them fashioned into a beautiful engagement ring for his fiancee Mary Edwards, the daughter of a Pennsylvania congressman.

by Sen. Burns that a ex-Red professor had been appointed to Berkeley faculty—that the professor was once the head of the national communist youth movement. If this is so, there will probably have been a great number of young Americans made softer toward communism.

We suspect that there are few professors at Berkeley or at any other college in California who espouse the communist cause. But until now, the question, as the one about wife-beating, just wasn't asked publicly. Now the question is asked: Are there communist professors at Berkeley?

We believe that this newest upheaval will help clear the air on several college issues and that if there is a need, culpable ones will be purged.

Educational processes at college level are too vital to allow unsubstantiated charges to go unanswered, or to allow subversion to exist.

As unpleasant as the mess has become, we see a better, and a stronger college system as the result.

Feb. Figures Show Real Estate Rise

Business in a number of categories looks promising locally, reflecting the national outlook in many quarters.

"Real estate sales in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley-La Mesa area rose during the month of February. A total of 236 sales were recorded, the previous month 189 and in February a year ago 241 were recorded for the area," James C. Downs, editor, San Diego County Real State Trends, said.

Were it not for war clouds over Viet Nam, the situation in the United States would indeed be near perfect—at least from a business point of view. For thus far in 1965 virtually every economic indicator has pointed in the direction of record prosperity."

Watch your local newspapers for notices of Rose pruning Even if you only have a few roses, these demonstrations are very informative and by following instructions given there you will have much better blooms this season.

An added bonus in some areas is the opportunity to take cuttings home. Then, at little cost, you can try your hand at growing roses from the beginning. A good rooting material is made up of one part Peat Moss or Vermiculite and one part clean sharp sand.

Roses and all plants grown from cuttings will be true to the parent stock and no grafting will be necessary later.

A little Vitamin B1-Hormone solution will help start new roots faster.

Keep Poisons Out of Reach, Dr. Askew Says

"If a parent does not want a child to eat lye, furniture polish, kerosene, housesold ammonia or all the family medicines, then keep those products out of sight and out of reach or locked up," Dr. J. B. Askew, director of public health, said in connection with National Poison Prevention Week, March 14-29.

According to national statistics, medications account for half of the accidental poisonings of children under 15 years of age. Children are more frequently poisoned by aspirin than any other medicine.

Dr. Askew said accidental poisonings account for the death of some 500 children a year throughout the United States.

In January, 1964, a 1-year-old National City boy died of an overdose of aspirin.

In September, 1964, a 2-year-old San Diego boy died of an overdose of cough syrup.

Dr. Askew reminded parents that an adult dose of many other medicines as well aspirin may be fatal to a child. He gave this advice:

Always read the label before giving a child any medicine.

Be sure to give only the amount suggested on the label as the correct amount for a child.

Give a child only those medicines prescribed by the family physician.

If a child accidentally swallows a medicine or a poison, call your physician at once.

Save the medicine or poisonous substance and the container it was in for the physician's information.

Dispose of medicines you no longer need by flushing them down the toilet.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I was sitting here reading my Lemon Grove Review when my eye fell upon this "Letter to the Editor" in which this woman was knocking the U.N. and those who defend it.

This person is for getting at the cancer (she doesn't identify) and cutting it out (whatever this means).

I don't like cancer—but from what I hear, "cutting it out" doesn't really get at the root of the matter.

Maybe she and I should be thankful we're still able to write letters to the editor. Maybe we can come up with some helpful suggestions for reaching positive peace.

I simply do not see what is gained by refusing to talk with an enemy—if it's only your husband or wife—much less a nation of hundreds of millions. And, in a way, these are quite similar—even related, wouldn't you say?

Sincerely,
Richard G. Davis

LM-SV CAV To Learn Of Parents' Role Re Kids' Careers

Recent local and national news stories on the subject chosen for the March meeting of the Citizens Advisory Council for the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District indicate an increasing awareness of its importance.

"Parent's Role in Vocational Guidance" will be discussed by Dr. Seymour Furman, psychiatrist, and three counselors from the Grossmont Union High School Districts, Mrs. Virginia Clapp from Grossmont, George Glaeser from Mt. Miguel and Miss Lois Nossaman from Granite Hills.

The meeting, scheduled for Tues., March 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the multipurpose room of the La Mesa Elementary School will be open to the public.

Dr. David Stonecypher, CAC vice-president, has arranged this program so that elementary school parents especially can obtain some of the high school thinking on this subject before their children reach this stage in their education.

Gillespie To Coach Basketball at GC

Bill Gillespie, Monte Vista High School Coach, will replace Noel Mickelson as basketball coach at Grossmont College, effective this coming fall, the college's District Goberning Board announced recently.

Mickeson, whose basketball team this year won the Pacific Southwest Conference championship, will continue to be a member of the college's Physical Education Department and will continue to serve as the college's baseball coach.

"Noel Mickelson has served the college in an outstanding capacity as a teacher and a a coach of two major sports," Grossmont College President John S. Hansen announced. "However, since it has become impossible to add another person to our Physical Education staff, we feel that Mr. Mickelson should not be asked to continue coaching two major, overlapping sports. Since Mr. Mickelson chose to remain as baseball coach, we feel that we were fortunate to secure the services of Mr. Gillespie as an addition to our Physical Education staff and to replace Mr. Mickelson as basketball coach."

"Mr. Gillespie's record of accomplishment at Monte Vista High School certifies to the fact that he is both a capable instructor and an excellent basketball coach."

THREE MILL RATE SEEN

SAN DIEGO — Low-cost, long-term electric power for pumping Feather River water over the Tehachapis to Southern California has been offered to the state by four California utilities.

The utilities offered to supply off-peak energy from their interconnected systems at a guaranteed rate of 3 mills per kilowatt hour through 1982.

This proposal, they said, would provide the state water project with a more economical supply of pumping power than any other proposal to date.

They noted that by comparison the cost of pumping power from the proposed federal-state "seed and blanket" nuclear power plant has been quoted by the Department of Water Resources to be 3.5 mills during the life of the reactor's first core.

It is estimated that this cost will increase to 4 mills after the federal subsidy for the first core expires.

The utilities pointed out that their offer would enable the state to avoid until at least 1982 a capital outlay of $80 million as its share of the cost of building the federal-state nuclear power plant.
